

Stacy Davidowitz Author, Playwright, Screenwriter

Stacy Davidowitz is an author, playwright, and screenwriter based in Manhattan. Her plays and musicals have been produced regionally and internationally, and her most recent indie feature film is in pre-production. She is also the author of the Hanazuki chapter book series (Hasbro / ABRAMS). Stacy teaches theater and creative writing in NYC public and private schools. Her alma maters are Tufts, Columbia, and Tyler Hill Camp, where she attended as a camper, counselor, and head staff.

What can an author visit look like?

- ✓ Camp-inspired Classroom Activities
- ✓ Discussion / Book Club Facilitation
- ✓ Creative Writing Workshops
- ✓ Dramatic Play
- ✓ Book Signing
- ✓ Q & A

Presentation Details

- ✓ Length - 45 minutes per workshop
- ✓ Can do one to four workshops per day
- ✓ Most suited for 3rd to 6th graders
- ✓ Presentations are tailored to school / grade

www.StacyDavidowitz.com

www.camprollinghills.com

Stacy.Davidowitz@gmail.com

“POPULAR PICK – a must have work for kids!”

- SLJ (Student Library Journal)

“Readers who love camp should feel comfortable with the lively fun, but even noncampers will relate to the theme of friendships renewed.”

- Booklist

“Funny and sweet. It brought me back to those amazing summer camp summers.” - Michael Showalter, *Wet Hot American Summer

“Stacy Davidowitz gets the magic of camp just right. Camp Rolling Hills is both heartwarming and laugh-out-loud hilarious.”

- Elissa Brent Weissman, author, *Nerd Camp

